

STEVE KNIGHT - CV

Business Communications Specialist

Postgraduate Diploma in Broadcast Journalism – London College of Communication

Steve has over 20 years experience as a Broadcast Journalist/Presenter and Business Communications Specialist.

His TV credits include a range of highly successful programmes for the Discovery Channel, including the ITN produced science & technology programme Discovery Today and Discovery People, where guests have included Sir Chris Bonington and Professor Stephen Hawking. He has co-presented Animal Hospital with Rolf Harris on BBC1 for four years and has presented reports for the Saturday night National Lottery Draw.

Steve's warmth, humour and intelligence make him a popular choice when it comes to presenting business television programmes, live events and question and answer sessions for major blue chip companies.

This combination of broadcast and corporate experience means that Steve is uniquely placed to deliver highly effective Business Presentation Skills coaching for Executives and Managers. This is typically to coach speakers for conferences, live events, Q&A sessions, executive development programmes, media & PR opportunities and for large contract bids where the company is pitching against its competitors. It includes advice on content, structure, appropriate media and the all-important delivery.

This coaching has been incorporated into leading MBA Programmes in the UK, Europe and Singapore. Steve also coaches on Executive Education programmes at INSEAD business school.
